Convention 2007
“Signs in the City”

On behalf of the North Carolina Registry of Interpreters for the Deaf, it is our pleasure to invite you to become one of our Partners in success for the upcoming NCRID Convention, June 22-23, 2007. Convention activities focus on skills training and professional development for interpreters working in diverse settings, including employment, education, health, and community. Convention presenters include Gary Sanderson and Cinnie MacDougal.

In order to bring in these and other trainers of this caliber, we need your help. We look forward to talking with you further about how you might participate in the convention. Your contributions will be widely publicized as a sign of our appreciation of your commitment to increased and enhanced interpreting services in North Carolina.
